With friends and a reasonable name in this market, I will be able to make a monthly income that can get us all out of this mess in a convenient timeframe. I have as well planned of asking colleagues for loan, so I am able to get out of my burden faster.

I am more than willing of putting my skin and my income that I have to live off on the line for everyone concerned here. I am sure that some of you have as well business in this sector or know someone with a possible job suiting my expertise and willing to offer a job that I would be able to contribute to this cause here.

I am not speaking for myself but as well for my previous partner VJ here. Pleading on my knees in front of everyone to understand the human flaw and give me and him a small, little but human chance to show every and each of you that we really do care about the community and want to return to everyone what they deserve. Everyone in life makes mistakes, rash and fast decisions that then are followed by the deepest regret. I have been always a man of fairness and diplomacy, a man of young age, understanding that following only your own interests is not going to work out, seeing and experiencing not very nice things with friends and even family, yet still able to forgive every and each of them, no matter how big the anger and hatred was at that point in time.

We are both here, here for you to show you that we are decent men, able to admit our flaws, stand for those, deal with the consequences and after that move on more experienced and more advanced than ever before.

Yet, all of this will not be able to happen and we will have to live with a big burden and dark scum above us, if anyone of you decides to take legal actions. These, would not only bankrupt each of us, make you loose the owners of the community you follow, but also destroy any chances of getting back anything of what has been lost.

I myself, would even recommend, at least on my part, to minimise the trading part with the funds that I will be providing monthly, so that the risk of loosing these is as small as possible and that each of you has a safety and a guarantee of getting in monthly figures.

This life, this goal, this idea of being independent, being able to work on my own pace, on my own field, on my own ideas and goals, especially in this very young and adaptive market. The idea of owning myself, of proving to myself that I am capable of dealing with anything that life throws at me, making sure that I am proud of myself for the rest of my life and do not have to feel like a scumbag, who was not able to deal with the hurdles life gave me, depends on you. It depends on you if you decide to be human and give us a chance, one chance, for proving you and ourselves that we are honest and decent men.

As always, I am more than open for any discussion, for any suggestion, for any reach out about ideas of how I could be better or how I could be dealing and suggesting better options.

I am far from being perfect with my little 21 years of age, yet I am willing to take ANY measure to learn on and from this journey, to improve and adapt as much as possible.

Thank you for your attention and for your decision, however it might be. I have done mistakes and I am willing to work for these with gratitude and respect.

Best regards,

TJ
